Staff: Good morning. Welcome to the tourist information center. How can I help you?

Visitor: Good morning. This is my first visit to this city, and I want some information about good places to see in this city.

Staff: Sure. We have some good places to see. Are you interested in culture, nature, or shopping?

Visitor: I like culture and nature. Also, I want to learn about something unique in this city.

Staff: Great. How about the old castle? It's over 300 years old and has a beautiful garden.

Visitor: That sounds nice. Is it far from here?

Staff: No, you can go there by taking the number 5 bus over there. It takes about 15 minutes.

Visitor: That's good. Can I go into the castle for free?

Staff: No, you need 500 yen, but if you're a student and have a student card, it's only 300 yen.

Visitor: I'm a college student and have my student card today. Is there a restaurant near the castle?

Staff: Yes. There's a traditional Japanese restaurant near it. The restaurant is over fifty years old.

Visitor: How nice! I want to have lunch there. And, are there any other good places to visit?

Staff: If you like nature, the mountain park is good. You can enjoy hiking and the great view from the top. Many people work together to keep the park clean.

Visitor: That sounds good. How can I get there?

Staff: Take a train from the nearest station. It takes about 25 minutes.

Visitor: All right. Then, I'll go to the park first. Thank you.

第三問 次の英文は、日本に留学中のイギリス人であるオリバー(Oliver)がクラスメートのサヤ(Saya)に送った電子メールと、サヤからの返信です。この英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

To : saya.abc@hopenet.jp
Subject : What are World Expos?
Dear Saya, In our last social studies class, we learned a little about “World Expos.” But I didn’t really understand them. Our teacher said that World Expos are big events, and many countries around the world come together. However, they’re different from the Olympics, right? I looked up Japan’s World Expos. I found that the first World Expo in Japan was the Osaka Expo in 1970, and it was also the first one in Asia. One ア(1 most / 2 of / 3 things / 4 it / 5 the / 6 about / 7 interesting) was the “human washing machine.” It was a machine that washed your body automatically when you got inside. The machine controlled the water, soap, and temperature. It was really fantastic then. In 2025, the World Expo (イ) in Osaka again. Its theme was “Designing Future Society for Our Lives.” Was anything different from the Osaka Expo in 1970? You know a lot about history, so please tell me if you have time. Oliver

Subject : Re : What are World Expos?
Dear Oliver, Thank you for your message. I’m happy you’re interested in Japan’s World Expos. The World Expos are different from the Olympics. At World Expos, countries don’t compete but work together to think about the future. It’s really fun. The theme of the Osaka Expo in 1970 was “Progress and Harmony for Mankind.” Space technology was very popular then, so many people visited the Osaka Expo in 1970 to see a moon rock. It was a piece of rock that was brought back to the Earth from the moon. People all over Japan were very excited, and ウ more than 64 million people visited in just six months. Also, I was surprised that there was a machine like the “human washing machine” in 1970. The Osaka Expo in 2025 was different from that in 1970. The Osaka Expo in 1970 focused on new technology, but the Osaka Expo in 2025 focused on important ideas like health, the environment, and living together. There was a big circular walkway, and people could walk around it to visit the pavilions of different countries. エ They showed new robots, new systems, and wonderful ideas for protecting the Earth. I think that the 1970 Osaka Expo was a place to dream about the future, and the 2025 Osaka Expo was a place to create our own future. I think both were wonderful. I feel that World Expos are wonderful events. I hope we can go to one together someday. Saya

第 四 問 次の英文は海外の教育について述べた文である。次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

Education is very important to make the world better. Education has two benefits. It gives people the skills they need to live healthy, safe, and happy lives. It also helps people find jobs and support their families. Other schools don't have enough teachers. Also, some children live far away from schools and can't go there safely. In some places, girls can't study at school because of old traditions or family rules. It is difficult for these children to make a better future .

To solve this global problem, many new ways of learning are used. One powerful way is education on the internet. A good example is Khan Academy, a free online learning website from the U.S. It was created by Salman Khan in 2008. He was a teacher. One day, he ウ(1 to / 2 math / 3 learn / 4 wanted / 5 his / 6 help / 7 cousin). He made a website and videos to teach him math. He then thought that his math videos could be useful to many people and decided to make them free for everyone. After that, many kinds of videos for studying were made. Today, Khan Academy offers lessons on various subjects, such as math, science, and history. The videos are easy to understand, and anyone can learn from them on the internet.

Thanks to Khan Academy, many children around the world have improved their studies. Students who thought that school subjects were difficult found these videos and learned that they were helpful and fun. They could study at their own pace and practice as many times as they needed. (エ), they got confidence and improved their test scores. Some students even went on to top universities by using Khan Academy. These stories show that online education has the power to change lives. Even if there are not enough schools or teachers, a smartphone or a computer can open the door to learning.

Education is the key to a better future for every child and the world. It reduces poverty and helps to create peaceful communities. If we all support education and ideas like Khan Academy for more students, we will be able to make a smarter, kinder, and stronger world together.
